

The technology industry is made up of many voices, but in Washington D.C. the voice of the small and medium sized IT firm is still too quiet!

If you care about:

- Advancing fair and rational tax and regulatory policies that support small IT businesses and technology entrepreneurs.
- Balancing the need to secure the national technology infrastructure, protect the user and promote market driven solutions that advance enterprise, technology innovation and competition.
- Developing a workforce that is employed, skilled and globally competitive.
